Location

Cambridge is a university city on the River Cam approximately 55 miles north of London. Cambridge is probably best known for its university, which lends the place an undeniable energy. The 31 colleges which make up the iconic institution probably represent about half of all the buildings in the city centre. The city is also a popular tourist destination and the kiosk is located on busy Bridge Street, opposite Côte and Middletons restaurants adjoining St John's College.

Description

These historic listed "K6" red phone box or "Jubilee" kiosks, commemorating the Silver Jubilee of the coronation of King George V. These boxes are 8'3" high and 3ft square. They were originally designed by Sir Giles Gilbert Scott, who also designed Liverpool's Anglican Cathedral, Battersea Power Station and Bankside Power Station now Tate Modern. Historic England have listed to preserve these iconic red kiosks, and many have transformed them to coffee shops, libraries, museums, bakeries, and defibrillators. In Cheltenham, 10 red phone boxes have been transformed into miniature art galleries, showcasing the work of local artists.

The kiosk has A1 retail use and mains electricity and is currently let out on a Licence for £2,000 pa (see legal pack). There is no service charge or ground rent to pay.
